BAföG

Students whose studies are delayed due to a temporary serious illness or a chronic illness are entitled to BAFöG:

Funding beyond the maximum funding period

With appropriate proof of limited study ability, i.e. that achievements can only be achieved to a limited extent, the funding can be extended for an appropriate period of time upon application 'for serious reasons'. Half of the funding beyond the maximum funding period is paid as a grant and half as an interest-free loan.

Please note: Anyone who is completely unable to study for more than 3 months due to an acute illness (e.g. is on sick leave or in hospital) is not entitled to financial support above BAFöG. If BAFöG payments have already been received, they must be repaid immediately. In case of longer periods of absence, a semester of leave must be applied for. This must be reported to the BAFöG office. During the semester of leave there is no entitlement to BAFöG. ALG II benefits can be applied for.

Please contact the counselling service with any questions. The counselling is subject to confidentiality.

Academic achievements

If an illness or a chronic illness leads to disadvantages in the completion of academic performance/examinations, a modification can be applied for. Modifications can be: e.g. the extension of the processing time, oral instead of written, examination in a separate room. The modification must be appropriate.

The responsible examination board must be contacted when applying for compensation for disadvantages. Timely clarification is necessary, as recognition is no longer possible after the performance has been rendered.

Chronic illnesses with an episodic course are equivalent to a disability (see also information on studying with a disability).

Information of the EUF about studying with a handicap can be found on the homepage of the university on page no. 24274.

If you have questions about studying with a health handicap, please use the counselling service. The counselling is subject to confidentiality.
